Houston, Tex., June 15—(AP)—A crowd of 20,000, which filled about one-third of the seats at Rice Stadium, last night heard General Douglas MacArthur decry the feeling of fear in this country.

The five-star general stared at the vast expanse of empty space around him and declared a deliberate campaign is afoot to "pervert the truth," create fear and confuse the American people.

Much of what MacArthur had to say repeated the arguments of his first Texas speech, on the steps of the State Capitol at Austin, Wednesday.

Again he said appeasement could lead to war on the U. S. by the Soviets.

"Insidious forces working from within" are more cause for fear than attack from the outside, these forces, he asserted, are not only Communists. He said they include:

"Those who, believing themselves liberals, chart a course which can lead to destruction. Those who are constantly trying to alter our basic concepts of freedom and human rights. x x x Those who seek to prevent men from fearlessly speaking their minds according to the dictates of their conscience." (This brought the greatest applause.)

of KPRC-TV, Houston, said a sample phone count indicated almost 380,000 persons saw and heard the general in their homes. The 14-minute speech of little more than 800 words also was broadcast.

There were whistles, and someone yelled "Pour it on, Mac," as MacArthur declared a deliberate campaign is afoot to "pervert the truth," create fear and confuse the American people.

28th Division GI's Engaged In Vigorous Battle Indoctrination

Editors: Battle practice and drill are attracting the attention of 28th Division men in Camp Atterbury, Ind. Dick Selverling tells about both the following story, another in series of special articles which are prepared for the Associated Press.

By Lt. Richard F. Selverling, Camp Atterbury, Ind., June 15—GI's of the 28th Infantry Division, under the command of General Daniel B. Strickland, are still engaged in the vigorous battle indoctrination courses. It is the "Keystone" Division's week training cycle.

This type of training, taken during all types of weather conditions, is the past winter season and now more desirable Indiana-like weather, is designed to the men in preparing themselves physically and mentally for what by experiencing reproduces of actual battle conditions.

Actual indoctrination training is actually divided into four categories for these former Pennsylvania National Guard soldiers. Training includes work in close combat, infiltration course, village or combat-in-cities training, and overhead artillery, to them the most realistic type training possible.

Most of this rugged training is under live machine-gun orillery fire and includes such hazards as crawling through barbed wire wearing full combat pack and negotiating the course at night under live machine-gun fire.

The combat-in-cities or mock village fighting gives the former Pennsylvania soldiers extensive training in the grim art of house-to-house fighting. A "mock" village at this camp gives the "bloody bucket" GI's experience in actual village type of combat.

Another approach to battlefield conditions comes at the close of the combat course as the "Keystone" troops receive more training in the use of individual weapons, including bayonets, as they engage surprise targets along the course.

The fourth phase of the battle indoctrination course over a half a mile shows the infantryman how artillery fire can be of great help to them in attacking an enemy objective. It also serves to emphasize the value of teamwork between artillery and infantry units of this famous division.

All of this rugged training helps to get the 28th Division GI's ready for division maneuvers, scheduled for late July at this reservation and for the exercise "Southern Pine," the joint Army-Air Force training exercise (with Navy participation) to be conducted at the Fort Bragg, North Carolina, area in mid-August.

Assembly Gets Bills Revising Unemployment Contributions

Harrisburg, June 15—(AP)—Legislation designed to save Pennsylvania employers an estimated $9,000,000 in unemployment compensation fund contributions for the General Assembly.

The savings would come about through rolling back employer contribution rates to the UC fund 1949 levels.

The proposal, backed by the Chamber of Commerce, is expected to be introduced in the general Assembly early next week. The $130,000,000 savings figure is estimated by Pennsylvania labor organizations who are opposed to the move. They have termed it "very dangerous" to the welfare of the UC fund. This contention is denied, however, by business groups.

The proposed rollback would return the contribution rates from the present 1.6 per cent level back to the .65 per cent basis in effect in 1949.

It would be accomplished by a downward revision of the entire contribution schedule. It would also drop the so-called "safety" level of the fund from the present $475,000,000 mark down to about $250,000,000.

Unemployment compensation taxes paid by employers now are gauged on a three-year experience of manpower turnover. The 1951

Committee Turns Down Power Tax

Washington, June 15—(AP)—The Ways and Means committee defeated a proposed 3 1/3 per cent tax on the gross sales of electric power utilities.

The committee had proposed the tax as a means of raising additional revenue. Public power interests opposed it on grounds it would put them out of business and, in effect, put the government in the business of taxing itself.

Private interests contend that as much as they have been paying the tax for 18 years, failure to extend the levy to public power would be the latter an added competitive advantage.

The committee, as a result, voted Wednesday against extending the tax to public bodies and also included in the bill a provision repealing the 18-year-old tax on electric utilities.

Fresh Red Troops Dig-in On Ridges Of Eastern Korea

Tokyo, June 15—(AP)—Large number of fresh Red troops were reported digging in today on the ridge-wet ridges of Eastern Korea. Reds battled United Nations tank columns on the central front, but vanished completely in the west.

Allied tank columns rumbled up two roads toward Kumsong, new Chinese base in the center. One patrol moved through a mountain pass to the Chupa area, nine miles south of Kumsong. It met only sporadic fire. Another tank patrol clanked out of Kumsong, 11 miles west of Chupa, blasting at determined Chinese along a ridge route.

U. N. fighter-bombers slipped through rain clouds to aid the drive toward Kumsong. Pilots reported they caught a "large

Johnson Says MacArthur Took Inchon Landing Responsibility

Washington, June 15—(AP)—Louis Johnson testified today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur took responsibility and carried out the Inchon landing in Korea despite misgivings by the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff. He said the JCS gave MacArthur a chance to call it off a week before it was launched.

The Inchon landing was a sea movement of troops up the west coast of Korea last September. It proved to be a brilliant stroke, bypassing the bulk of North Korean troops that had advanced far into South Korea.

MacArthur's forces plunged on toward the Manchurian border, and later the Chinese Reds poured across, entered the fighting in force, and created what MacArthur called a new war.

Johnson, former secretary of defense, was testifying for the second day at the senate inquiry into MacArthur's dismissal from his commands for publicly differing with administration strategy for dealing with the Chinese.

Johnson discussed the Inchon landing in an exchange of questions with Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) and gave this personal estimate of the maneuver:

"Then the history of this generation and of this war is written, there is nothing that was brilliant in the conception and execution of the Inchon landing. Beautifully done."

Knowland got into the matter by questioning Johnson on a message from the Joint Chiefs reminding MacArthur that "all available trained Army units in the United States, with the exception of the 82nd Airborne Division, had already been allocated to him."

Johnson said it seemed to him the Joint Chiefs were "quite properly if not cold-bloodedly pointing out" that MacArthur "had to do it with what he had and could not expect to get anything else."

"It is a little deeper than that," Johnson said, adding that General J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, was "still not quite satisfied" about the Inchon plans.

He said the Sept. 7 message was "putting MacArthur on record as saying at this late date, when it (the Inchon movement) could still be recalled, and about the time the ships began to move around the peninsula to that side, whether or not he still thought it should be done."

And, Johnson said, he thought it "was fair to MacArthur that the record shows that he took the responsibility."

It was the 36th day of hearings by the Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) said he expected the committee to complete the questioning of Johnson this forenoon and then recess until Monday when W. Averell Harriman, Foreign Affairs adviser to President Truman is due to testify.

Before Johnson returned to the witness chair, Senators Brewster (R-Me.) and Cain (R-Wash.) told reporters they wanted to dig further into the former cabinet member's differences with Secretary of State Acheson.

Police Say 6000 N. Y. Children Are Addicted to Dope

New York, June 15—(AP)—A police estimate that 6,000 New York City school-age children are dope addicts highlighted the close of a three-day hearing held by state narcotic probers.

The estimate came from Lt. Bernard Boylan of the Narcotics Bureau, who presented statistics at yesterday's windup session.

Boylan said the new figure increases by 1,000 all previous tabulations. Asked how many of the young drug addicts actually are in school, he replied:

"Truthfully, I could not answer that question."

But Boylan offered no objection when Attorney General Nathan L. Goldstein said there were "at least 1,500" school children addicted to drugs in some form.

President Says Runaway Prices Would Give Russia a Global Victory Without Firing a Shot

Washington, July 15—(AP)—President Truman's plea for his anti-inflation program has fired administration leaders in congress with hope that a wave of public opinion may help them win more powerful economic controls.

Despite Mr. Truman's public declaration last night that runaway inflation could give Russia a global victory "without firing a shot," the controls legislation was still in trouble on both sides of the capitol.

Congressional sentiment appeared strong for continuance, with some modifications, of the present defense production act instead of the new and tougher law asked by the president.

In carrying his appeal to the people by television and radio, Mr. Truman said:

"This is a fight for everyone to join—a fight for the very life of this nation. x x x we've got to have a good, strong inflation-control law on the books if we are going to get through this emergency successfully."

Although the present law expires June 30, the house banking committee recessed until Monday its closed-door consideration of the president's proposal for a new two-year law. Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) was anything but optimistic about the chances of turning out a tougher controls measure.

He told a reporter today that while he hoped for committee action next week, he wouldn't be surprised if enough Democrats and Republicans teamed up to put across a straight continuance of the present law.

Mr. Truman said in his message to the nation that some congressional leaders told him "they were under a lot of pressure from the special interests to do away with controls, and that the consumers were not making themselves heard."

The senate banking committee yesterday tentatively beat proposals for a straight nine-month extension of the existing law but still may change its mind. The vote was reported to have been 10 to 2.

Mr. Truman cautioned that if inflation runs wild after June 30 because there is no law to curb it, the cost of the defense program will mount, more taxes will be needed and the consuming public will suffer.

"Controls are absolutely necessary, for at least the next two years, no matter what happens in Korea," he said, adding that price rises already experienced "are only certain raisers to what will come along if the congress fails to pass a strong price control law."

Mr. Truman chided the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) for claiming that "we can curb inflation without price controls simply by tighter credit controls and higher taxes."

In Chicago, NAM President William H. Ruffin accused the president of "reverting" to tactics of distortion and unfair accusation in order to confuse and bewilder the public. Ruffin said in a statement:

"x x x This is no time for silly-misleading statements such as those made by the president in his address. The issues at stake affect the safety and freedom of every man, woman and child in the country."

1st Church Pastor Named Delegate to National Meeting

Quite a feather in the cap of First Methodist church, Warren, is the election of its pastor, Dr. Arthur Colley, and a former pastor, Rev. Wayne Furman of Jamestown, as two of three ministerial delegates from the entire Erie Conference to the national convention in 1952.

The two men were named at conference sessions in Meadville yesterday and the third, along with the lay delegates, will be elected before the Sunday closing of the spring convention.

Erie Conference delegates voted at yesterday's sessions to give pastors and supply ministers a $100 annual salary increase over the present $2,300 fixed minimum and to raise from $27 to $39 monthly the amount paid pensioners for each year they have served the church.

Rev. Eugene Smith, general secretary of the denomination's mission board, told the conference: "Communism is the most powerful foe the Christian church has ever faced and one of the chief means of combating it is the building up of foreign mission fields." He said that during the past year contributions to mission work averaged three cents a day for each member of the Methodist church. This, he pointed out, will care for only one out of every three persons now needing assistance in the mission fields.

Tonight, delegates will be honoring the Rev. Russell C. Moore, East Brady, as outstanding rural minister of the year, with a dinner-reception planned in his honor.

Attending the conference from First church Warren are Dr. and Mrs. Colley, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Templeton, with many others attending various individual sessions.

W. J. Summerville is official delegate from Grace church and Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Baldwin may leave Saturday for the remaining sessions.

Epworth church is represented by its pastor, Rev. James Kelly, and practically all the parishes in the county have pastors and their wives in attendance.

To the southeast, North Koreans showered the Allied line with mortar fire, AP Correspondent George A. McArthur reported.

U. N. foot troops straightened their lines and probed Red positions all along the east. North of the Allies pushed about a mile through intense fire. Officers said the fire appeared to be a delaying action to give other Reds time to dig in.

Along the western front Allied patrols pushed four miles out in front of U. N. lines without running into sizable Communist forces. AP Correspondent Stan Carter said, "all indications were that the main body of Reds had withdrawn many miles to the north of U. N. lines."

Rep. Kearns Urges Re-dedication in Flag Day Speech

"We here should re-dedicate ourselves to serve our community and nation," were the closing words used in the inspiring address given by Carroll D. Kearns, congressman from the 28th district, at the annual Flag Day ceremonies held in Warren last night under auspices of the Warren Lodge of Elks.

The representative's speech, broadcast over radio station WNAE, stressed the need of stable individuals in the community and state, and the fact that everyone should be willing to take part in the duties offered. He said there are many things going on in Washington he doesn't like, but there are also many at home.

Talking about the American flag he stated, "many have died carrying the banner, but do we realize the millions who have had the privilege of living under it?"

Rep. Kearns referred to the Korean war, said it is fine to help other nations as long as they help themselves, but he doesn't believe it is right to send our boys to war when other countries have men standing around on the street corners. The congressman continued: "A great deal of money has been given, but how much has it been appreciated? At the present time I fear economic collapse as much as Stalin's army."

Referring to the Elks, he spoke very highly of their standards for Americanism, adding that he hoped "many other towns with Elks lodges would say this is our duty, our flag, and our land," as the local organization has done in its ceremonies.

The program was conducted on the porch of the Elks club house and drew a fine crowd of local citizens.

Getting underway at 7:15, a dual concert was presented by the Warren High School and Veterans of Foreign Wars bands.

Koaster Klassic Site Is Selected

North Carver Street has been chosen as the site for the running of the Kids Koaster Klassics. The selection was made last night by the Jaycee committee which held tryouts on several streets and decided to use North Carver from Cornplanter Avenue to Madison Avenue.

A large crowd of spectators was on hand last evening as two of entries in the contest tried out their home made racers on the course. The two racers were driven by Wilford Winner, Warren and Fred Gorenflo, Clarendon, who will be in the big race on Saturday afternoon, June 30th to compete for the grand prize which is a new bicycle.

The committee has obtained helmets and shirts for all the contestants and these will be distributed at the trial runs and weighing in ceremonies next Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock.

The Variety show which will be the Monday evening, July 2nd attraction is now being formed and five acts have been signed up definitely. They include George Johnson of Warren, piano-humorist; the Tillotson Sisters of Corry who won second place in the Hollywood Star Discovery Contest at Erie; Jim O'Donnell of Royston, who is Warren County's winner in the star discovery contest; Morgan and Crosby, James town Juggling Duo; and Janet Gully of Tidouete, impersonator.

Five more acts are to be announced next week.

Erie Physician to Open Practice in Sheffield Vicinity

Dr. Thomas McHenry announced today that he had sold his medical practice in Sheffield to Dr. Edward J. Wallick, a medical resident at the Hamot Hospital, Erie.

Present plans call for Dr. Wallick to begin practice on June 23.

He will occupy the same offices now being used by Dr. McHenry. Dr. Wallick and his family will move into the apartment now being occupied by the McHenry's.

Dr. McHenry said that the office records will be left here intact. He plans to go to Pittsburgh where he will teach pediatrics at the Children's Hospital. He wishes to express sincere gratitude to the Marquette University School of Medicine at Milwaukee, Wis. He served his internship at the Scranton State Hospital, Scranton, and at the Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn. Prior to his going to Erie, he was a medical resident at the Alexandria Hospital in Alexandria, Va.

Jaycees Complete Plans For Choosing Celebration Queen

Five lucky young ladies from Warren county, who will reign over the Warren Jaycee Fourth of July celebration for five days and will receive many valuable prizes from local merchants, will be chosen on Saturday evening, June 30, by public acclaim.

The Jaycees celebration committee meeting last night learned from Queen contest chairman Joe Bunk that already 20 valuable prizes have been donated for the Queen and more are expected before the Fourth of July.

The committee, however, is disappointed in the number of entries received thus far from Warren County girls. Last year over 50 young ladies entered the contest but so far the committee has received only eight entry blanks.

Although selection of the court this year will be made by the audience, the choosing of the Queen from the five girls in the court will be made by a committee of judges from out of town. Three well known personalities from Erie are expected to serve as judges along with two Jamestown Jaycees officials.

The first selection is only a week away. The ceremonies on June 23 will be held on Second avenue in downtown Warren and will be followed by a street dance with both round and square dancing. A week later on Saturday evening, June 30, the Queen will be chosen and crowned in front of the Municipal building. Following that a dance will be held in "The Spot", Warren's Youth Center.

The committee urges that Warren County girls send in the entry coupon which appears in tonight's edition of the Times-Mirror. Any girl between the ages of 17 and 21 is eligible to enter and the five finalists will be royally feted during the celebration with prizes, dinners, and clothing.

The list of prizes and their donors lined up so far are as follows: Lane Cedar Cheese, Waxman's Furniture; Portraits, Kodaks; 12 pairs of hose, J. C. Penney Co.; Corsets from Virg-Ann; Mary Barron slip and 3 pairs

Commercial Rent Control Is Dropped

Washington, June 15—(AP)—The senate banking committee agreed today to extend federal rent controls beyond June 30 and apply them to "critical defense areas."

Washington, June 15—(AP)—The senate banking committee sidestepped today a proposal to extend rent control to commercial properties.

There was no formal vote. Committee sources said Senator Benton (D-Conn.), an administration spokesman in shaping rent control legislation, had decided NOT to press for inclusion of commercial rent controls in the face of overwhelming committee opposition.

The committee expected to complete late today its work on a new federal rent control program to replace the present law expiring June 30.

President Truman had asked that rents of commercial as well as private property be controlled. As now drafted, the measure would bring "critical defense" areas under federal rent control. Critical defense areas would be designated by the Secretary of Defense Marshall and Defense Mobilization Director Wilson.

Washington, June 15—(AP)—First Lt. Samuel S. Coursen of Madison, N. J., gave his life to save one of his wounded men in a savage battle in Korea. He had been awarded the Medal of Honor.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint Chiefs of Staff, will present the medal to Coursen's 14-month-old son at a Pentagon ceremony June 21.

40 Persons Said Trapped in Blaze

Montreal, June 15—(AP)—Fire broke out in a five story home for the aged and orphans today, and more than an hour later 40 persons were reported still trapped in the blazing building.

About 200 persons, many of them orphaned children, were housed in the building, the Hospice St. Cunegonde, operated by Roman Catholic nuns in midtown Montreal. Most of the occupants were reported to have been led to safety.

Shortly after the fire broke out, a fireman said he knew of two deaths.

Toll Road Plan Mushrooming Throughout East United States

Harrisburg, June 15—(AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike, "daddy of them all," was in a position today to look benignly on toll road children springing up in all parts of the northeastern United States.

A turnpike commission spokesman said files are kept here on the progress of superhighway construction wherever it may be.

The files show that the motorist soon may be guaranteed unobstructed driving from the Ohio-Indiana border east and northward to Maine.

The proposed vast and now would connect Buffalo, N. Y., with Virginia via New York City, New Jersey and Maryland.

Although some stretches of highway would be free most of the superhighway mileage would come under a toll system.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike, opened in 1940, provided the proving grounds for testing toll road construction.

The success of the Keystone state's toll project may be seen in the fact that its original 1951

Slaughterers Are Over-Bidding On Prices of Cattle

Livestock slaughterers who are over-bidding on the price of cattle may find their July quotas reduced in addition to the penalties involved through Civil and Criminal action at the end of the June accounting period.

This pronouncement was made by Director Wm. J. Collins of the Erie District OPS who has had some complaints that some slaughterers or their agents were making bids in excess of ceiling regulations which were established June 4th, 1951.

If slaughterers persist in this practice, in order to even out on their average prices for beef purchases they may find it necessary to purchase livestock at less than ceiling prices before the end of the month.

The regulation does not set ceiling prices on individual cattle purchases but it establishes a "maximum permissible price" which slaughterers on the average can pay for animals. The average price paid must be at or below the ceiling at the end of each accounting period.

Reports out of Washington say that some slaughterers or brokers are paying from $1.00 to $1.50 per hundred above ceilings. Special Agents have been assigned to both large and small markets to keep close check on cattle sales and are reporting direct to the Chief of the Enforcement Division in Washington, the names of purchasers buying cattle at over ceiling prices.

SERVICES IN CALIF.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gafner, 312 Park street, have left for Hollywood, California, where services will be held next week in memory of their son, Robert Gafner, who was lost in action in Europe in 1944. His body has just been returned and will be buried in Forest Lawn cemetery, Hollywood.

SOUND SLEEPERS

The arrival of fire equipment failed to arouse residents of the 200 block of Parker street, at three o'clock this morning when the emergency truck was called to douse a large bonfire. The call came from a neighboring street, and firemen spent a half hour emptying a booster tank of water on the fire at the rear of 205 Parker street. They report no spectators, an unusual occurrence at any fire.

EMERGENCIES TREATED

Emergencies treated at Warren General Hospital yesterday evening include Meredith Hutchings, 112 W. Fifth avenue, who sustained lacerations of the left elbow from an arm rest in an automobile. She was discharged after application of two sutures. Larry Barhite, 308 McPherson street, was treated for a puncture wound of the right foot, sustained when he stepped on a nail. He was given shots and discharged.

BEEF PRICE POSTINGS

Telegraphic notification was received today by Director William J. Collins of the Erie District Office of Price Stabilization, that the date for posting official OPS retail beef price ceiling lists has been changed from June 18 to June 25. The extension is due to delays in printing the official posters. Immediately upon receipt of the official lists, they will be mailed from the Erie office to individual markets for posting by June 25th.

AUTOMOBILE HINT

It is poor policy to have broken spring leaves welded. Welded leaves will not bear the required load, and it is cheaper in the long run to replace them with new ones.

Total of $2,813 Refunded Tenants During Past Month

Tenants in Northwestern Pennsylvania received refunds totalling $2813 during the month of May following action by the local rent office on their complaints of rental overcharges, Frank S. Anderson, Erie Area Rent Director, reported today.

Many of the refunds were made at informal conferences in the rent office with a rent office negotiator serving as arbiter at a face to face conference of landlord and tenant.

The new procedure, known officially as the landlord-tenant conference plan, was recently introduced by the rent office to settle disputes between landlord and tenant with a minimum of delay to both parties. Anderson reported that the new procedure has resulted in speedy settlement of complaints, with justice to landlord and tenant alike.

"Surprisingly enough," Anderson indicated, "both landlord and tenant usually leave the conference fairly well satisfied. When tenant and landlord discuss their grievances face to face, both seem to learn to appreciate the other's problems."

The Rent Director pointed out, the rent office representative remains the natural arbiter, advising both parties of the provisions of rent laws, and recommending a voluntary settlement that is equitable to both.

Rent regulations provide that a tenant may be entitled to sue a landlord for triple damages where rents in excess of the legal ceiling have been charged.

In the majority of cases, however, Anderson pointed out, the rent office representative recommends that a settlement be made on the basis of the actual amount of the overcharge.

In many cases, he explained, tenant's claim for overcharge and refunds is counterbalanced because of the landlord's eligibility for higher rent due to increased operating expenses, major capital improvements or increased services.

In other cases where the evidence indicates that landlords have deliberately and wilfully overcharged tenants, the rent office demands treble damages. If the tenant files a suit on his own initiative, he is entitled to the entire amount of judgment. If the suit is filed by government attorneys, the tenant receives only the amount of the overcharge and the additional damages are deposited in the U. S. Treasury.

Tenants who feel their rents are excessively high may obtain information about the legal rent ceiling at the rent office at 707 Commerce Building, Erie, Pa., the rent director said. Landlords who believe they are entitled to an increase in rent may obtain information and assistance in filing a petition for an increase at the same office.

"NEW YEAR" RESOLUTION FOR JULY

It's too late for New Year's resolutions, but maybe July 1 would be a good date for a fresh resolve, since that's the start of the federal fiscal year, if nothing more.

Anyway, here's a thought: Let our senators and congressmen resolve not to utter again that battered, shopworn, overworked political cliché—"our American boys."

To be brutally frank, too many of those who intone this phrase don't have any real idea what "our American boys" are going through in Korea. They are interested in the political value of the emotions stirred by those words.

If these lawmakers did care about our young men, they would have hastened to enact new taxes and other anti-inflation measures, they'd have voted for a real, immediate UMT, they'd support a big defense program without invoking false arguments for economy, and they'd work for the most iron-clad system of political alliances with other free peoples—for our own selfish interest.

Until they have taken this kind of courageous action, they cannot rightfully pose as the protectors of American youth.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING

Federal highway authorities may read with profit the recent comment of an official of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. Federal men like to assail the super-toll road as an extra tax burden, as damaging to a state's regular highway web, as possibly hurtful to a state's economic life.

Some facts in rebuttal: Since the Turnpike has been operating (13 years), Pennsylvania has spent more money on improvement of parallel routes than the toll road itself cost and all these secondary highways are today carrying a full traffic load.

New industries have been established along the Turnpike route as markets have been brought closer. By-passed towns and cities have not suffered but have prospered more. And half the road's profitable take from tolls has been provided by out-of-state vehicles. Most Pennsylvanians don't use it at all and thus don't pay extra expense.

One wonders how long the Public Roads Administration will continue to regard such turnpikes as uneconomic and unwise.

GET IT FIRST HAND

When General MacArthur testified before joint senate committees, he told senators it would do them good to go out to Korea and see what the fighting and civilian dislocation really is like.

It was good advice. It's always good advice to suggest seeing things first-hand. That's why it makes sense that 16 house members have gone to Europe to talk to General Eisenhower and discuss the foreign aid program at close range.

One of the brightest interludes in recent congressional history was that in 1947, when several serious-minded committees of congress went to Europe to observe for themselves what was needed there.

To judge from behavior on Capitol Hill in the last year or so, the lessons learned then seem to be fading. It's none too soon for a fresh look at the most important expanse of free soil outside the United States.

The splendid response to the appeal for donations to a fund to finance the trip of the Warren Boy Choir to Philadelphia to appear on the Paul Whiteman Teen-Age TV show on the evening of June 23rd has been so gratifying to date that there would seem no doubt that the desired goal of $1,000 will be reached by those in charge. Until that aim has been achieved friends of the choir and all interested citizens are reminded that checks and cash are being received by both the Times-Mirror and Radio Station WNAE. Make checks payable to "Warren Boy Choir Trip Fund" and mail or send them to this office.

In arranging your schedule for the weekend don't pass up annual Warren Day at Celoron Park on Sunday, which promises to be the same entertaining and pleasant event that it has turned out to be in years past.

Here And There

In honor of the thousands of American men who are playing an important part this year in increasing the nation's population, Expectant Fathers' Day will be observed throughout the country on Saturday, June 16th, a day before Fathers' Day. Max Hess, Jr., an Allentown department store executive, is chairman of the Expectant Fathers' Day Committee.

Now as much a part of the American scene as Mothers' Day or St. Patrick's Day, National Expectant Fathers' Day is sponsored by the Expectant Fathers Club, an organization with headquarters in Allentown, Pa., which has been fighting for 4 years for proper recognition of dads-to-be. Organized in 1947 to raise the status of future candidate for Fathers' Day honors, this is a non-profit, non-political club, open to all expectant fathers, without charge. The organization was originated by the National Institute of Diaper Services.

On Expectant Fathers' Day, according to Mr. Hess, it is now customary to present the Expectant Father with appropriate gifts. This may be anything from a lounging robe, in which he will probably sit up at night with the baby, after it arrives, to a pair of gold earplugs so that he need not hear the infant cry the night before an important conference. He is also to be treated with care and consideration on Expectant Fathers' Day. It will not be out of order to serve him breakfast in bed; relieve him of any and all household chores, both indoors and outdoors; provide him with pipe, slippers, and the privilege of tuning in any TV program he desires; give him

PITCHES 11-HIT SHUTOUT

Oakland, Cal. — (AP) — Lloyd Little, one time pitcher for the Washington Senators, recently pitched an 11-hit shutout for the Oakland Oaks in the Pacific Coast League. All eleven hits were singles. Little also permitted two bases on balls. Three double plays helped the left-hander.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Businessmen in Defense Act Like 'Planned Economy' Boys

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—One of the many surprising things to watch in Washington is what happens to prominent Republican business leaders who come to town to take up defense jobs. They are immediately thrown up against tough international or domestic problems. Scarcities, foreign supply and demand, trade balances, dollar shortages or political relations with other countries are involved. All seem to call for economic controls of some sort or another, to remedy what's wrong.

It is traditional that all businessmen hate controls and government interference with the normal practices of the free enterprise system. Yet what happens nine times out of ten is that the business executives temporarily turned bureaucrats frequently come up with the same answers that the college professors, the economic planners and the New Dealers would propose.

There's Charles E. Wilson, Director of ODM, the Office of Defense Mobilization. Republican. Former president of General Electric. A rugged individualist if there ever was one.

What Mr. Wilson comes up with is a "three-year plan." It's in the best tradition of the economic planners. Its goal is to provide enough raw materials to supply both a defense program and a normal civilian economy by the end of 1953. To achieve this goal, Mr. Wilson has to impose all kinds of restraints on business-as-usual.

OR take the case of Eric Johnston, director of the Office of Economic Stabilization. Another Republican. Supposed to have had ambitions to be GOP candidate for President at one time. May still have 'em. Owns several small business enterprises in the northwest. An ex-president of U. S. Chamber of Commerce. On leave to the government from a high-powered job with the movie industry, which is definitely big business.

After finding his way around, he supports a program of tough price controls. Then he starts talking about the need for freezing the farm parity formula and setting a fair standard for profits.

Profits are, of course, the number one sacred cow. When OPA Administrator Chester Bowles started talking about profit regulation in the last war, his own ceilings fell in on him and knocked him out of office. Yet Mr. Johnston comes up with a similar answer to meet the new inflationary threat, and there is only mild protest.

In the matter of wage controls, Eric Johnston also condones a line that no big businessman would be expected to endorse. At first Mr. Johnston was for a tough 10 per cent wage increase ceiling. But he has now allowed that ceiling to be punctured by the railroad wage increase and the meat packers' wage increase.

Or take an upcoming case in international relations. It concerns the new omnibus foreign aid bill. It would put Marshall Plan fourth-year operations, third-year military assistance and the Point Four program all under the same roof in the State Department. "State Department" and "dog house" are now the same thing in the minds of many people. Anything that comes out of there or goes into it is considered automatically no good.

IT so happens that this plan for centralized control and unification of all foreign aid programs was perfected by a couple of Massachusetts Republicans named Thomas D. Cabot and Charles C. Coolidge. They were appointed Director and Deputy Director, respectively, of the Office of International Security Affairs by Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Way down east in Boston, they just don't come any more conservative than the Cabots and Coolidges. Yet these two Yankees, after studying the situation thoroughly, came to the conclusion that putting all foreign assistance programs under State Department control was the only plan that made any sense.

Tips On Tuning

This young woman has been involved in quite a number of police cases, but it's all right since Military Hall's involvements concern only the dramatic roles she is called upon to play during Mutual's "Mysterious Traveler" shows.

Here is the schedule of baseball games to be broadcast over Warren stations for the coming week.

Friday, 8:25—New York at Pittsburgh.
Saturday, 1:25—New York at Pittsburgh.

Sunday, 12:55—New York at Pittsburgh (double header).

Monday, 2:30—Boston at Chicago.

Tuesday, 2:30—Boston at Chicago.

Tuesday, 8:25—Philadelphia at Pittsburgh.

Wednesday, 2:30—Boston at Chicago.

Wednesday, 8:25—Philadelphia at Pittsburgh.

Thursday, 11:25—Philadelphia at Pittsburgh.

Friday, 2:30—New York at Chicago.

Friday, 8:25—Brooklyn at Pittsburgh.

There they are... and there's lots of them. All daytime games are broadcast on WNAE and the night games are heard over WRRN. Each ball game broadcast is preceded by "Warm-Up Time," fifteen minutes before broadcast time.

Tracking down ghosts is not the usual thing for law enforcement officers. But when the police found themselves involved in running down a killer in addition to clearing up the strange goings-on in a haunted house, replete with ghosts, it proves the old adage that "truth is stranger than fiction." This series tale, taken from police files, will be dramatized by Mutual's "True Detective Mysteries" for its broadcast Sunday, 5:30 to 6 p. m., or WRRN.

Three new program features will highlight Mutual's schedule effective Monday, June 18.
Curt Massey, Martha Tilton and Country Washburne's orchestra will be spotlighted on radio's biggest little show, "Curt Massey Time," which is to be presented every week-day from 12 noon to 12:15 p. m., EDT. This program will originate from the MBS studios in Hollywood. It is produced by Forrest Own and written by Maggie O'Flaherty. A melody of tunes from three Broadway musicals, "The King and I," "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," and "Flahooley," will mark the debut MBS broadcast.

Joe Louis will be the first guest dropping in to talk to radio fans via the new "Mel Allen's Pop-sicle Clubhouse" series, which will be presented Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, 5:55 to 6 p. m. Joe will be Mel's guest on Monday, June 18. Ted Williams, the home-run pacer of the American League, visits the "Clubhouse" Wednesday, June 20, and Mickey Mantle, the 18-year-old rookie star of the N. Y. Yankees, will be the Friday, June 22, guest.

H. R. Baughage, veteran columnist-correspondent on the Washington scene, will initiate his MBS "Baughage Talking" series on Mutual on Monday, June 18. He'll be heard every week-day from 11 to 11:15 p. m., EDT.

The U. S. Army can do everything—and will prove it during Mutual's "Queen For a Day" cinderella broadcast Monday, June 18, 11:30 a. m. to 12 noon. Jack Bailey and the troupe will originate the show that day from Fort MacArthur, San Pedro, Cal. — with and all-American audience electing a distaff enlistee as the "Queen" that day.

PLENTY DEGREES COOLER INSIDE

THESE folks are enjoying something that's being pioneered by Buick.

It's freedom from the blinding glare of bright summer sunlight.

It's freedom from hot laps—caused by the sun's rays beating down through the broad expanse of windshield.

These freedoms trace to a new feature you may have noticed in '51 Buicks—a new kind of glass with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, in every glass area of the car, front, side and back.

Buick engineers tell us that this "Buick first" reduces glare 18% over conventional glass—cuts sun heat as much as 45%—and Buick engineers are very conservative fellows.

This glare-and-heat-reducing Easy-eye glass is factory-installed at moderate extra charge. It gives you a built-in transparent "sun visor" right in the windshield—and it also dulls the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night.

As we've said, this is something Buick owners were the first to enjoy. It takes its place with such exclusives as the valve-in-head Fireball Engine—coil springs on all four wheels—the firm power linkage of torque-tube drive—and the magic of Dynaflo.*

*Optional at extra cost—available on most models. (Not presently available in California and Massachusetts.)

As we've also said—rather modestly—"Smart buy's Buick."

Come in soon and find out what an understatement that really is.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

No other car provides all this:

President Mary Topper to Represent Zonta Club at International Sessions

Mary Topper, newly-elected president of Warren Zonta Club, will be that group's delegate to the convention of Zonta International to be held at the Hotel Stevens in Chicago June 18-21. She will leave Sunday morning, accompanied by Elvinda Fagley, club alternate.

This is the 30th annual convention of the organization and, in addition to a good representation from the United States and Canada, there will be overseas delegations from both London and Paris, Honolulu will again be represented and it is hoped someone from the Scandinavian countries may also be present.

Based on the provocative theme, "Tomorrow's Future—Today", the program will stress the unlimited potential of the executive woman's role at community, national and international levels in the 11 countries having Zonta Clubs.

All general sessions will convene in the Grand Ballroom of the Stevens, with the international president, Dr. Elizabeth Gust Dozier, of San Fernando, Calif., presiding. On hand to welcome delegates will be Chicago's mayor Martin H. Kennelly, and among speakers will be Morris Sayre, well known New York industrialist, and Governor Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota.

Fourteen members of the local club attended the regular dinner-meeting at the YWCA activities building yesterday, when convention details were discussed and plans made for the next meeting Thursday, June 28. Frances Schimmelfeng will be chairman of the affair, which will be held at Bello View Lodge, Chapman Dam road, with Lenore Thurston in charge of reservations.

The president announced during the meeting the following standing committees for the year:

Finance, Mary Corah, chairman, Marguerite Painter, Bertha Christensen, Grace Aberg; program, Irma Eba, chairman, Mildred Bendix, Nora Eaton; public relations, Ann McGary, chairman, Leota Clark, Alice Davis;

Attendance, Lenore Thurston, chairman, Ann Donahue, Isabelle Beck; fellowship, Lucille McLaughlin, chairman, Marian Robertson, Erma Connelly; membership, Martha Topper, chairman, Ann McClune, Jessie Sandeen; international, Frances Schimmelfeng, chairman, Beulah Nichols, Dorothy Newell; Inter-city, Lillian Offerle, chairman, Elvinda Fagley, Helen Clifford; public affairs, Marjorie Dougherty, chairman, Dr. Elizabeth Beaty, Claire Elliott; service, Lena Schaeffer, chairman, Grace Stearns, Alice Wilson.

Family Vacations Are Worth All the Trouble, Mama

WRITES a vacation-bound mother: "Every year I wonder if these so-called family vacations are worth the effort.

"In order for our family to get away from home for two weeks, I spend two weeks getting all our clothes ready and packed and taking care of all the little details that go with closing up a house.

"When we are finally ready to go, I'm really ready for a vacation. But do I get it? Nope. The trip itself is hardly relaxing, what with trying to keep the kids in the back seat from making so much noise they annoy their Dad who is driving.

"Then we arrive for the vacation that is supposed to be a rest. But what's restful about cooking three meals a day, doing dishes and making beds just as at home, only under less convenient conditions? Yet very few families in these times can afford to go to any vacation spot where they have their meals served and have maid service and other such luxuries.

"All the while, of course, I have to keep an eye on the children. There seem to be more hazards to life and limb at a vacation spot than there are at home. I wonder if I'm alone in thinking that on a family vacation everybody gets a vacation but Mama, or if other mothers feel like I do."

DON'T WORRY, DON'T HURRY

PROBABLY an awful lot of them feel like you do about family vacations. For Mama, they usually do entail a lot of work. But they're worth every bit of the effort. They bring a family closer together. They add a dash of something new to everyday living. They make memories that even Mamas recall with pleasure in later years. The trick that will help you get more fun and more rest out of your family vacation is to start out with the idea that you aren't going to either hurry or worry, once you've locked your own front door behind you. If you don't hurry and don't worry, the work won't be too much, and you'll get a real vacation after all.

Jackson Run Road Rebuilding Planned

Approved plans for the rebuilding of Route 69 (Jackson Run Road) from North Warren to the Conewango township line, a distance of 5.07 miles, were received at the county commissioners' office today.

It is expected that bids will be advertised for this job, the only major road job in the county this year, immediately.

Specifications call for straightening, widening and resurfacing of the road in a similar manner to that which was done from Chanders Valley to Sugar Grove last summer.

The old road has been in place for many years, and it has been troublesome to motorists because of the high crown and many sharp curves. Most of these curves will be eliminated in the new construction.

W. Howard Alexander, president; Herbert G. Eaton, vice president; Don H. Mowell, vice-president; and A. Ed Johnson, treasurer. Brackett Ayers is the newly-elected secretary.

Two new members of the board, Ivan S. Brumagim and Charles G. Koebley, were introduced. Another new member is Alan H. Templeton, who was unable to be present because of Erie Conference sessions in Meadville.

Y-Teen Campers to Have Full Schedule
Local Y-Teen members spending the week at Camp Newatah on Lake Chautauqua have had a busy schedule of activities, according to the following newsy letter just received from there:
Just as we predicted, nobody found it easy to get up Tuesday. Although not many of us arose at the sound of the bell, everyone managed to make it to breakfast. At noon the eagerly awaited announcement was made. Lucky tent 15 had won the banner for the day!

Everything went as usual, but the highlight of the day was Stunt Night. Tents 18 and 19 won first place with their very original skit—"The Shiek of Clarendon." Gerrie Dykins was the shiek (shriek). Her attendants were Susan Robertson, Sally Tonne, Joyce Sponsler, Joan Saglimbene, Toni Mitchell, Nance Cannon, Mary Bauer, Lois Radsperner, and Patti Larson. They took parts as flower girls, dancers, slaves, and fanners.

The costumes were clever (most of them were made from red flannel pajamas, beach towels, and sheets) but we heard some complaints about the cold from the girls while they were waiting outside for their turn. Second place went to the dishwashers, who gave a melodrama, which went over in a big way because the girls kept such straight faces. During a telephone conversation the gossip really flew and had everyone laughing and blushing. Tent 20 put on this unique skit. There were many other cute skits that it's impossible to tell about them.

We woke up yesterday to a "pitter patter of little raindrops" on our tent. In fact, we didn't even get up until an hour after we should have. Of course, there was no reveille so no one can blame us. We were quite disappointed to find that we had missed our donuts by being late to breakfast.

The entire day was rainy and damp. Almost everyone was in a bad mood. We spent the time in our tents and recreation hall. In the afternoon some of the more interested souls went to Midway. Jean Mostert was going to take a boat ride, but the lake looked more inviting than the boat so she calmly stepped off the dock. No one took a boat ride.

Date Night was the main attraction of the evening. The get-ups were really cute. Gail Dorsey, Carol Still, Louise Culbertson, Mally Robertson, Diane Lowe, Kay Costley, Patti Harrison, Rita Lucia, and Toots Graziano were prize winners. The evening ended with two short movies.

This morning we had some trouble getting up again. Mrs. Collins has now decided to drive to the various units in the morning and honk the horn to get us awake. Today Newatah resembles the windy city of Chicago. Everything and everyone is blowing around. Our attention has been divided between the antics of the modern dancing class and this letter. Therefore we are not liable to fine for any damage or mistake.

Your drenched campers,
Joyce and Jane.
P. S.—Ezra is back, but we still love George. There have been many odd happenings around here. Things disappearing, etc. Last night someone took my bedsprings apart. I had to haul a new bed to my tent at 11 p. m. Anyone knowing the culprit please notify me.

Jane.
When the summer camping program of Erie Presbytery gets under way tomorrow at Camp Caledon on Lake Erie, the Fellowship group of Warren's First Presbyterian church will have two students enrolled.

RENT CONTROL NEWS RELEASE
Office of the Housing Expediter, Area Rent Office, 707 Commerce Building, Erie, Penn'a.

QUESTION: Does the rent office have anything to do with the sale of property?
ANSWER: The rent office has nothing to do directly with the sale of property. However, it is a requirement of the Rent Regulations that a new landlord shall file a notice of change of identity with the rent office within fifteen days after the change. It is also to be noted that any new owner who wishes to evict a tenant for the purpose of his own occupancy must petition the rent office for a certificate relating to eviction before he can legally evict such tenant.

The rent office strongly recommends that any prospective purchaser of property check with the rent office to determine what units, if any, are registered and what are the legal rents that may be collected for such units. If units are being rented which have not been registered the purchaser should insist that the units be registered and the rents approved by the rent office before investing his money.

QUESTION: My father was a very easy going individual who liked to help people. As a result some of the rents now collected by his estate are very low even though the estate did secure a 15% increase by means of long term leases in 1945. What can we do to secure a higher rent?
ANSWER: Petition the rent office for an increase in rent on the basis that the original rents were below the rents for similar accommodations on the freeze date. It is suggested that you see one of our Rent Consultants who will assist you in the preparation of the necessary petition forms. Landlords in Erie County should telephone the rent office, 2-1429, for a definite appointment with a Rent Consultant.

QUESTION: What is the present law under which rent control operates? When does it expire?
ANSWER: Rent control operates under the Housing and Rent Act of 1950. This act expires on June 30, 1951, unless renewed or extended by other Congressional action.

QUESTION: I am the owner of a property that has four apartments and six garages. Are the garages under rent control?
ANSWER: If any of the garages are rented to any of your tenants who rent housing accommodations from you the garages are under rent control. If rented to other individuals the garages are not under rent control. If a garage was furnished the tenant on the freeze date it continues to be part of the services to be furnished the tenant in occupancy unless the rent office approves the decrease in services. If a garage is to be provided a tenant of an apartment who did not previously have a garage a petition should be submitted to the rent office to approve the increase in rent.

Question: What can I do with a tenant who doesn't pay his rent?
Answer: Under the federal rent control law, non-payment of rent is one of several grounds for eviction of a tenant. In addition to an eviction action, all of the other remedies available to a landlord under local (Pennsylvania) law for the collection of rent due and owing, such as landlord's levy, etc., are preserved to the landlord. A landlord, in order to evict a tenant who defaults in the payment of his rent, must follow the notice procedure outlined in the federal rent control eviction regulations. When those notice requirements have been met, the landlord is free to proceed with an eviction action in accordance with local law. A pamphlet explaining the eviction regulations and procedure may easily be procured from the area rent office.

Early Christians in Action

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
SAID St. Paul to the Christians in Rome, long before he was to visit the imperial city as a prisoner: "I am ready to preach the gospel to you also that are in Rome, for I am not ashamed of the gospel; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek."
This is a remarkable expression of the inspiration and the motive power that made St. Paul and the first Christian missionaries so effective in spreading the news of the gospel, and in establishing the Christian Church in the many regions where it grew and prospered; it soon effectually challenged paganism, and the imperial power of Rome itself.
Surely it is the greatest miracle of history, and the truest evidence of spiritual power, that in an age of limited communication and transportation, a lowly Nazarene from a hill village in Palestine, should none the less have inspired a little group of similarly lowly men.
It was His vision of the conquest of the world, with His message of love and grace, that encouraged them to go forth and literally fulfill His command, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation" (Mark 16:15); "Go ye, therefore, and make disciples of all the nations" (Matthew 28:19).
That little, then unknown, group of disciples might well have seemed but a drop in the ocean of that vast Roman-conquered world; and the vision and the command the impractical dream of one who surely was not of this world. Yet the issue and the achievement justified His faith and His vision. The Galilean fishermen, and their fellow disciples, became men of power and organizing genius, spiritual leaders so obsessed with the vastness of the Christian enterprise that they took no account of the smallness of the beginnings, or the seeming inadequacy of their numbers to achieve the task to which they were called.

The original group was, of course, soon strengthened by the emergence of St. Paul, whom I see as the greatest example in all history of a man completely and overwhelmingly dominated by the sense of a mission and purpose. "This one thing I do," he said, "I press toward the mark." And what a mark! (Philippians 3:14). No fear, danger, difficulty, handicap, or opposition could turn him from that purpose.
When I think of what these early Christians accomplished in their world, I cannot help but picture what might still be accomplished in this modern-day world of war and violence, distrusts and hatreds, and degradation and sin, if all who profess to be Christian believers were indeed followers of Jesus, similarly inspired by His vision and His command, missionaries living and proclaiming the reality and the power of the Gospel.
The power of God is still as available, if the professed followers of Christ would use it.

Healthy Outlook for Entire Gas Output From Leidy Field

Harrisburg—(AP)—S. H. Cathcart, state geologist, said today there is "a good healthy" market for the entire output of the new Leidy natural gas field in Clinton county and that no plan is underway to limit the supply.

"There is a good healthy market for every foot of gas being produced in the Leidy market. Pennsylvania produces only 40 per cent of the gas consumed in the state and we can use all that is produced," he declared.

Cathcart said a conference was held here last May with local owners of the Leidy wells and producers to discuss possible conservation measures or legislation which might be needed.

At that time, Cathcart said, the possibility of working out plans for reducing the rate of gas flow from the wells was discussed. No agreements were reached and nothing has been done since, Cathcart added.

The state geologist said conservation measures would serve no useful purpose in the Leidy fields because the rate of gas drained from the wells has no damaging effects on the wells themselves.

Sen. George B. Stevenson (R-Clinton) said in Lock Haven "in my opinion it would be too hasty to bring legislation on control of gas before the present session."

"There will be further gas fields discovered in the state and the problem is so complex that all angles could not be settled in such a short time."

The Changing Landscapes

RALPH G. ECKERT

Friday, June 15, 1951

Hello, folks: Last week I attended the Grassland Field Day at Meadville. The large representation from Warren County were well repaid for the time and travel to Crawford County. I saw quite a few cooperators of the Warren County Soil Conservation District at the grass and legume research plot. I know those not now grassland farming are giving it some serious thought, while those that are, are also thinking about the grass and legume combination and fertilizing treatment.

Lawrence P. Morton, Spring Creek farmer, completed his farm conservation plan with the help of the SCS. He has some well drained ground that is too rolling to farm without losing a lot of top soil, lime and fertilizer. Lawrence said about a piece of ground back of his house, "I seeded that with alfalfa and don't intend to plow it for a long time." He has already started working toward complete grassland farming. He is planning on a lot of pasture improvement on land that is now wet and full of hummocks to furnish anything close to good pasture.

These thunderstorms we have been having the last couple of weeks have laid down a lot of water in short periods of time. On land that has the clay layer close to the surface all the water can not seep away into the ground and must therefore run off as surface water. It is during this time of the year under these conditions that we get a large portion of our gully erosion in Warren County.

Cooperators who see this erosion and decide it is time to construct the diversions or terraces called or in their conservation plan are requested to make arrangements at the SCS office for staking out these practices before making final arrangements with equipment operators. I am now alone so it will be at least a couple days before I can fit this work into my planned schedule.

Charles Camp, potato farmer down Torpedo way completed his 25 acre farm pond. His main purpose for building the pond is to furnish a supply of water for fire protection and potato spraying. He is also planning on stocking it with bass and blue gills to furnish some choice fish fries and recreation for his sons who were very much on the job during construction. See you all next week.

W P L REPORTING

There is an interesting article on vacation reading—and reading in general—in the Book Review Section of the New York Times for Sunday, June 10th. The author, Joseph Wood Krutch, has written a number of books, himself, and he offers the sound advice that good reading includes both the old and the new. Toward the back of the Book Review Section, there is a check list of books for vacation readers. Don't forget—the New York Times is on file at the Warren Public Library. (This paper and other out-of-town papers are kept for six months—the Warren Times-Mirror, of course, is kept forever.)

The above-mentioned checklist includes only new books. This reader would like to mention some less recent books for vacation reading. It's a mistake to consider only light reading as vacation reading; often vacation time is the best suited time for serious reading. With other responsibilities shelved, a person can concentrate in an objective way on a subject which would be considered just another problem added to the daily whirl of the work week.

TOLERANCE, by Van Loon, traces the history of human relationships from the beginning of time as we know it. Van Loon's style is most readable and so is the print in this book. In fact, any Van Loon book would make excellent vacation reading because of his conversational style and unconventional opinions.

PRAGMATISM, by William James, is a philosophical method based on older systems of philosophy but interpreted by James in modern form. In essence, pragmatism is a method of judging everything by its practical consequences. This book is mentioned because it, too, is readable and the print is attractive. Any book of philosophy could be mentioned—vacation time is a good time to follow the train of some other person's thought.

THE RENAISSANCE IN ITALY, by Symonds—Some readers like to make a project of their vacation reading. An entertaining and informative reading project would be Symonds' four-volume work on the Renaissance in Italy. This is an attractively written, detailed account of one of the most colorful periods in history.

And, then, there are biographies, back-to-the-land books, travel, humor, nature books as well as fiction. Come to your public library and make your selection soon. Don't forget the six-weeks vacation loan plan!

LANDER

Lander, June 15—Homer Preston, Washington, D. C., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ludwick. Sunday callers were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knapp of Youngsville; Mr. and Mrs. William Armitage of Corry.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bergstrom accompanied by Florida Kinsel, of Jamestown, attended commencement exercises at Pennsylvania State College, June 11, when Roderick Bergstrom received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural engineering. He has accepted a position with the New Holland Machine Company at New Holland, Pa.

Jack Bergstrom, a student at State College, also has returned to his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rowland and family, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sarvis and daughter, of Sugar Grove, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hoag at Troutville.

Chapter 11

JIGGER said thoughtfully, "Photostats of a death certificate can be arranged, for a price. Quack doctors blossom like weeds on the West Coast."

"How about the mortician's affidavit?"

"Another dollar, another deal. Any persevering curbstoner would do business with Hunter."

"With cremation part of the deal?"

"Uh-huh. Cremation certainly no loose ends that way. Just ashes, no cadaver to exhume, it ever an unforeseen hitch developed."

"And the motive for all that?"

"Generally in character with Hunter's ruling obsession," Jigger gestured at the imposing dwelling. "Money."

Red said, "It's a theory, but it sounds as phony as a frame-up to me." He looked at Jigger curiously. "You kept staring at Hunter like a kid gooping at a butterfly. What was the fascination?"

"I heard on your white-and-tan shoeshine on a summer Sunday. He's every guy you want to slug on sight."

Jigger said thoughtfully, "Maybe. Let's go."

The towering wrought-iron gates at the foot of the drive were a step away when Jigger stopped suddenly, listening.

Red saw her first. "It's the pixie with the crocheting needles."

She was behind a row of bushes, making sounds and motioning to them covertly.

"I heard you with Matthew," she giggled. "I didn't go to my room. I stood in the hall, and listened."

Jigger asked, "Just what are you to the Hunters?"

"I'm Aunt Penny, Matthew's sister." She fumbled in the bosom of her dress. "I heard you ask for a picture of Susan." She held a card out to Jigger. "I had this portrait in my trunk. Matthew once saw it, but didn't know it was a picture of Susan."

Jigger took the card and examined it. He turned it in his hand, then over again. It was a postcard reproduction of an oil painting, signed "Arents," and captioned "Aude of the Inner Eye." The painting was a patient representation of the non-definitive school of Surrealism.

Jigger pursed his lips. "This is a portrait?"

Aunt Penny giggled. "Susan posed for it, she said."

"Your niece was an artist's model?"

Aunt Penny nodded.

"Where?"

"In New York City."

"When?"

"It was the first Christmas after she was off. Aunt Penny widened her eyes, remembering. "Matthew thought I was going to see a patent specialist," she giggled. "But I met Susan instead."

"Wouldn't he have allowed you to visit your niece?"

"Oh, no. Matthew hated Susan," Jigger said eagerly. "Now why do you say that?"

"Matthew hates everybody," she said. "I like a child reciting a line in a ghost story."

JIGGER persisted, "But exactly why did he hate Susan?"

Aunt Penny thought about it. "Because she was wicked."

"Wicked, how?"

Her face screwed up thoughtfully. "Immoral wicked."

"Just what did Susan do?"

Now Aunt Penny looked scandalized. "She used to meet Tom Connor in the old Saugatuck Mill. That's why Matthew made Susan marry Willie. And that's why she ran off and can't come home."

Jigger stared at Aunt Penny thoughtfully, assessing their conversation. These revelations fraught with meaning; how much did he dare accept?

Jigger asked, "Do you believe your niece died in San Francisco?"

Aunt Penny's head went up and down. "Why do you believe it?"

"Matthew says so."

"But do you really believe Susan died?" There was no reply, and Jigger prompted. "Think now, Aunt Penny! You said Matthew made her marry Willie, and that's why Susan ran off and can't come back—is that correct?"

Aunt Penny's head went up and down.

"Now, how can Susan come home—if she's dead?"

"She wouldn't dare." The forehead creased grotesquely; Aunt Penny was determined to justify her statement. "I heard Susan say she didn't dare."

"You heard her say?"

"Yes. On the telephone. She was talking to Matthew. First she said she was coming home, then she said she wouldn't." Aunt Penny giggled. "I listened on the upstairs telephone with Willie."

Jigger fought to keep his tones even. "And this telephone call you overheard was when, exactly?"

"Last week, just before Matthew and her eyes widened into saucers. As Jigger moved toward her eagerly, she backed away, crouching, then darted under him and scurried up the flagstone walk with her hand still cupping her mouth."

They watched the massive oak door open, watched Aunt Penny disappear into the dim interior. Red's fingers pinched into Jigger's arm in warning.

The door hadn't closed. A man stood framed in the opening. It was Matthew Hunter.

Red said hoarsely, "Let's get out of here!" He made no attempt to conceal his panic.

White Sox and Dodgers Widen Lead; Trading Deadline at Hand

By The Associated Press

It will be sink or swim for major league teams at midnight tonight.

The deadline for player trades will toll then. After midnight no major teams will be allowed to trade until the completion of the championship season. The only loophole is that players may be obtained on waivers.

At the pace the Chicago White Sox and Brooklyn Dodgers are moving it is doubtful if any team will trade with them. Yet both are looking for additional strength.

The Sox stretched their American league lead over the New York Yankees to 4½ games by beating the Washington Senators, 8-7, and 14-5 in a two-night doubleheader last night.

Brooklyn remained six games in front in the national league as a result of a stirring 2-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Sox extended their winning streak on the road to 15 games, two shy of the major league record set by the Giants in 1916.

Sixth inning home runs by Ray Boone and Jim Hegan sparked the Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. Bob Lemon went all the way to post his seventh victory.

Rain washed out games between the St. Louis Browns and the Yankees and the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

Gil Hodges homered with two out and one on in the ninth inning to give the Dodgers the nod over the cards in St. Louis.

The Cards pounded out 15 hits but blew the decision because of inept base running and the alert play of Dodger catcher Roy Campanella.

The Giants remained in second place by beating the Cincinnati Reds, 11-6. Larry Jansen, provided with a 4-0 lead in the first inning, coasted to his seventh victory.

Heavy hitting enabled Russ Meyer of the Philadelphia Phils and Murray Dickson of the Pittsburgh Pirates to post easy triumphs.

Meyer stopped the Chicago Cubs, 11-3 and Dickson turned back the Boston Braves, 9-4.

The Phils pounded out 16 hits with Ed Waitkus and Richie Ashburn leading the way with three safeties apiece. Wally Westlake featured a 13-hit pirate attack, driving in four runs on his 16th homer and two singles.

Louis and Savold Bout Is Switched To Madison Area

New York, June 15 — (AP) — Since it doesn't rain in Madison Square Garden, Joe Louis and Lee Savold positively will tangle in their overdue 15-round bout tonight.

An all-day rain, crossing up the weather forecasters, forced the second straight postponement of the battle of the ancients yesterday and sent the show indoors to the garden.

The International Boxing Club and the Ballclub Proprietors have an agreement not to run competing shows outdoors. The Yankees host the Detroit Tigers at the Stadium tonight.

Both of the fighters took the second delay philosophically. They each limbered up lightly and then took things easily while the I.B.C. help frantically scurried around to change seating arrangements for tonight.

There's no change in the television arrangements. There won't be any for the general public. The same nine theaters in six cities — Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland and Albany, N. Y. — will get the fight on their screens via a closed circuit.

Although the fight didn't seem to catch on while it was scheduled for the great outdoors, there was a noticeable increase in interest when the switch to the garden was announced.

It so encouraged Jim Norris, president of the I. B. C., that he predicted a sellout or close to it. The gladiators won't be required to weigh in today but both will be examined by Dr. Vincent Nardiello. At their weigh-in Wednesday Louis scaled 211½ and Savold, 190.

Louis still held as the favorite at odds ranging from 2 to 1 to 3 to 1. There hasn't been much wagering reported.

The true stork, the bird traditionally supposed to bring babies, is not found in the United States.

Sam Snead Takes One Stroke Lead In U. S. Golf Open

Birmingham, Mich., June 15 — (AP) — Samuel Jackson Snead, the man to beat in the par-starved 51st United States Golf Open, took a one-stroke lead into today's second 18-hole round with this humble tip:

The angels will have to be riding smack on the shoulder of the man who wins this one. If you're lucky, you got it."

Not in 17 years has golf's supreme event undergone such hurrying and puffing as marked yesterday's opening round in which Snead's one-over-par 71 was the best effort wrenched from Oakland Hills's terrifying course.

Back in 1934, there were three 71's shot to top the opening round over the par-70 Merion course at Philadelphia.

Snead, who has had four open titles slip out of his grasp and still is shooting for his first big one, was one stroke ahead of Al Bessellink, blond, husky former University of Miami (Fla.) golfer, and a stern campaigner, Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C.

Somebody figured that the average score in yesterday's staggering opening round by a field of 162 was a whopping 78.26 strokes. One-third of the field was over 80.

Steve Doctor, Kane pro, had a 40-41-81 card.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC

In other games, Lockport beat Niagara Falls 9-3 and Butler defeated Oil City 11-7. Shortstop Jackie Randall got four hits, in-

Annual Concert by Warren Boy Choir Is Outstanding Success

Again last night, the 37 boys in Byron Swanson's Warren Boy Choir enchanted an overflow crowd at the concluding performance of their Fourth Annual Concert as the SRO sign again went up well before curtain time in the High School Auditorium. Repeating Wednesday evening's stellar performance, the Choir last night really gave voice to their appreciation for the capacity turnout and the rapt attention their presentation received. Singing by far the most difficult music in their history, the boys have obviously made great progress since last year, and appear destined to move on to finer and finer things in choral music.

But, in addition to their superb musical accomplishments, the Choir also scored for staging, scenery, lighting and all-around showmanship, thanks largely to the excellent work done by the group which did the mountain of work behind the scenes. A large and unsung staff of nearly 100 talented adults participated in the concert preparations, many of them working far into the night to have everything ready for curtain time.

Under the untiring direction of Dr. Albert Eberly and Mrs. Leonard Donaldson, the following people have played major roles in the Choir's highly successful season: Miss Adelaide Swanson, accompanist; Mr. and Mrs. Max Saunders and Mrs. Norman Morgan, scenery and set designing; Mrs. Marshall Morrow, dramatic coach and staging; Mrs. O. W. Clinger, Costuming and Make-up; James Hess and Clem Wolstencroft, lighting; Louis Land, photography; Mrs. J. T. Valone, clothing maintenance; Dr. J. T. Valone, finances and ticket sales; Mrs. John Mong, secretarial work; Raymond Johnson, transportation; Lou Neiderlander, posters; Joe Trent, program advertising. Mrs. Robert Israel arranged out-

Willys - Overland Gets Erie Plant

Washington, June 15—(AP)—The government today turns over its aluminum forgings plant in Erie, Pa., to the Willys-Overland company.

General services administration has granted the company a "certificate of entry" which permits company officials to inspect the plant's interior and machinery. They have been in standby condition since the end of World War Two.

Willys-Overland on June 6 was successful bidder to lease the plant. It is capable of producing 15,000,000 pounds of aluminum forgings annually.

July 15 is the date set for the company to take over the plant. Operations are expected to start August 15. During the war the plant employed 600 persons.

F. B. Reibold, Washington representative of Willys-Overland, told a reporter yesterday, inspection of the plant by company representatives will be important chiefly from a planning angle. Willys-Overland headquarters are in Toledo, O.

Fresh Red Troops Dig-in on Ridges of Eastern Korea

(From Page One)

The U. S. Eighth Army said troops operating through the fallen Kumsu - Chonwon - Ponggang "iron triangle" made only light enemy contact.

The dormant Red Air Force showed signs of life. Two planes struck far behind U. N. lines in their deepest penetration in months.

The United Nations "could take care of the Chinese Air Force" with combat planes already in Japan and Korea, U. S. Air Secretary Thomas J. Finneret commented in Tokyo. U. S. army officers have estimated the Reds have 3,000 planes in Manchuria.

It might be a different story if the Russians entered the war with their "very powerful" air force, Finneret said. That would create "a very serious situation." However, he said, he had no information that Russians have been flying the Soviet type jets that have tangled with American planes over northwestern Korea.

The two Red air strikes Thursday morning were by propeller type craft. One plane bombed and started an Allied air field at Suwon, 25 miles south of Seoul. Another raided Yongsongpo, a suburb of the old South Korean capital.

U. N. air forces struck back promptly. They hit three Red air fields in Western Korea. Far East Air Forces reported runways at Sunan and Sunchon were "potholed by bombs." Sunchon was bombed at night.

conducted introductory exercises along with the officers, John MacDonald, leading knight; E. M. Branch, Jr., loyal knight; and Frank J. Mason, lecturing knight.

The invocation was pronounced by R. C. Schumacher, and the song, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," was sung by the Elks Quartet made up of Howard Johnson, Richard Hill, Roger Hendrickson, and William Duff.

Past Exalted Ruler R. J. Weigle, read the history of the flag, and was assisted in the inspiring ceremony by flag bearers from Boy Scout Troop 3. This was followed by an altar service in charge of J. G. Gobliger, esquire, and the other officers.

Another number was played by the Warren High School Band before Rep. Kearns' address. The quartet sang a second number, "America," and the Vets' Band gave a selection.

The audience standing in military salute, Exalted Ruler White shot in the pledge to the flag, and the National Anthem and retreat by the Veterans of Foreign Wars firing squad ended the exercises.

Serving as flag bearers were these Scouts from Troop No. 5, which the Elks Club sponsors: David Swanson, Craig Forsgren, Billy Bloom, Robert Bloom, Stephen Coe, Fred Gaghan, Harold Moore, John Reed, James Phillips, Frank Carter, Lee Rogers, Robert Barthe, Harold Keck, Rae Seely, Dick Koebley, Dick Sherwood and Billy Wehner.

miles now is being extended to some 374 miles.

An additional 100 miles was added when the Turnpike was stretched from Carlisle, near Harrisburg, to King of Prussia, near Philadelphia, last year.

Another 10 miles, from the present western terminus at Irwin to a new Pittsburgh connection, will be opened July 1. The remaining 57 miles to Ohio is expected to be completed in the fall.

The 1951 legislature has given its approval to an additional 40-mile extension to the Delaware river to connect with the New Jersey toll road now under construction.

The way was cleared for building an Ohio turnpike recently when the supreme court of that state gave its approval. Construction may begin in 1952.

Just emerging from the dream stage is New York state's thruway to pursue a 535-mile path from Buffalo to Albany and New York City. Approval of a bond issue by Empire State voters in November could bring construction next year.

Portland, Maine, already is connected by a toll road to the Massachusetts border via Portsmouth, N. H.

Massachusetts is one of the missing links but is talking of a free road across state to connect with the Wilbur Cross Parkway and Merritt Parkway through Connecticut to New York City.

New Jersey's 118-mile turnpike is scheduled to open about Nov. 15. A new bridge over the Delaware river and one over the Chesapeake bay, with proper connecting roads, are to span Delaware and Maryland to project traffic to Virginia and the south.

Assembly Gets Bill Revising

taxes were based on the three years ending June 30, 1950. Employers laying off few or no workers pay a tax of one-half per cent of their payroll. The rate runs up to 2.7 per cent as layoffs increase.

As the amount of the unemployment compensation fund dwindles over the three-year calculation period, the contribution rate is revised upward. Since employment layoffs in the past three years reduced the fund, it necessitated an upward revision for most employers this year from about .05 per cent to 1.6 per cent.

Administration tax framers are also now working on proposed legislation which would increase the maximum jobless benefit rate from $25 to $28 a week and the minimum from $8 to $15 a week. It also would increase the maximum payment period from 24 to 26 weeks.

Labor organizations had sought to have the maximum benefit level increased from $25 to $30 a week.

seeks to improve its brilliant season of 12 wins in 13 starts.

Feature of this week's four-game slate will be a Saturday night game at Fort Wayne against the Midwestern Life Insurance team, three-time national semi-pro champions and only team thus far to defeat the 28th Division nine.

Coaches Captain Walter R. Ernst (former coach and teacher at Camp Hill, Pa.) and Lieutenant Eugene R. Haas (former coach and teacher at Biglerville, Pa.) will probably start their hurling ace, Corporal Curt Summons, on the mound. Soldier Curt won 17 games for the Philadelphia Whiz Kids last season and is undefeated with the 28th this season, with a string of three victories.

The "Keystoners" will also face the Columbus, Ind. Merchants, the Richmond Tigers of the Indiana Ohio league, and the Gas City, Ind. Merchants this Sunday afternoon. Coaches Ernst and Haas plan to divide Sunday's pitching duties between Privates Gene Leach, Joe May and Bob Millikan.

Tom Martin, former Notre Dame University star, will not be with the 28th Division squad this week due to a furlough. Private Martin is leading the hitters of the "Keystone" squad with 26 hits in 48 trips to the plate for a .542 mark.

ATTORNEY WITHDRAWS

Pittsburgh, June 15—(AP)—Attorney Charles J. Margotti is not going to defend halfback Jerry Nuzum, the Pittsburgh Steeler football player charged with murder by the state of New Mexico. Margotti said yesterday he was withdrawing from the case for personal reasons, but would not elaborate. The former attorney general of Pennsylvania said the merits of the case have nothing to do with his decision. Nuzum is in Las Cruces, N. M., awaiting trial in the slaying of Ovida Coogler, 15-year-old waitress. She was killed in April, 1949.

Wally Westlake Swapped by Bucs

Pittsburgh, June 15—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, desperately trying to get out of the National League cellar, today swapped third baseman Wally Westlake and pitcher Cliff Chambers to the St. Louis Cardinals for five players.

In exchange for the slugging Westlake, who has 16 homers, and Chambers the Pirates got these players from the Cards:

Joe Garagiola, outfielder; Bul Howerton, relief pitcher; Ted Wilks, and rookie shortstop Dick Cole.

Presbyterian Synod Holding 70th Meet

Grove City, June 15—(AP)—The Synod of Pennsylvania, Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., has named four delegates to attend the annual state Council of Churches of Christ meeting when the interdenominational group meets.

Synod delegates to the 70th annual convention acted on several resolutions submitted by various committees today as they prepared to adjourn the annual meeting.

Four delegates named to the Council of Churches were the Rev. John G. Marvin, Lewistown; the Rev. William F. Logan, Bellefonte; the Rev. Claude S. Conles, Harrisburg; and the Rev. Joseph Grottenhaler, Halstead.

The Synod's foreign missions committee yesterday fixed the number of missionaries to be sponsored at 1,150 and ruled that no reinforcements should be assigned when the number is exceeded.

The 1951 state fund-raising goal was set at $437,591. It will be spent for foreign and domestic mission work and Christian education. The amount is $6,000 greater than last year.

Martin is recovering from an operation in the Bethesda Naval Hospital. More than 70 radio stations in Pennsylvania usually broadcast his talks by transcription every other week.

Van Zandt and Gavin are both members of the house armed forces committee. They will discuss the new universal military training and service bill awaiting the president's signature.
